Father Oakleaf

By Elvis Robinson

Well, this first week of June there is so much to write about it must to be best kept in. Heavens to Betsy, so much is going on. Mrs. Vaughan and Bill Vaughan tell us about their trip to Florida and our neighbor, Lloyd Vaughan took them to hear more about the Sunshine State and adventures in Florida suntan. Bill brought us a souvenir alligator. Mr. Mrs. Vaughan-[illegible] brought some Florida oranges back to Appomattox. Also glowing reports of their visit to the famed Busch Gardens and Sunday marked a bumper crop of our own. Miss Nancy, Mrs. Rachel Lawson, Mrs. S. J. Evans came by at 8 a.m. to pick up the children, Brightleaf and Dimples, and the travelogue to Richmond where at 11 o'clock was our privilege to hear the Wormsley Boulevard Methodist Church, Wormsley Blvd. The minister there is the Rev. Forrest S. Wagoner, who once was at Memorial Methodist Church here in Appomattox. Our visit was a surprise for Wagoner, but he was at it with a sermon, "Additional Blessing," based on the early career of Joseph, with a solo by Miss Lynn Collins were announced Church Bible School this was a friendly church nice to see the old Bro. Wagoner, and all happy to welcome to Appomattox. Ab stopped at a Howard restaurant to eat, and had a delightful beef and sauerkraut ladies feated on of dietetic morsels, and then Miss us for a pleasant Mr. and Mrs. Jack such hospitable We are proud that Appomattox friends are situated. Mrs. former Phyllis Appomattox, and the three fine children home and Jack is special for a major I am so proud of Phyllis and all formers friends who are proud upon our back brings me to our friend, many of member, Rev. It is also of note that the ex-citizens of Appomattox by Middlesex and the chairman is also another of our young men who have brilliantly successful the field of banking.

Deadline Near

Applications for "new farm" allotments for 1971-crop winter wheat may be filed at the Appomattox County ASCS Office until July 1, according to J. P. Alvis, Jr., Chairman of the Appomattox County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Farmers wanting to be considered for such allotments should get in touch with their County ASCS Office during June for full details, he said.

In general, a producer eligible to file an application for a "new farm" allotment for the 1971 winter wheat crop must meet the following qualifications:

(1) Own or operate the farm for which a wheat allotment is requested.

(2) Have no interest in a wheat allotment on any other farm.

(3) Have available land and adequate equipment and facilities for the successful production of a wheat crop on the farm.

(4) Have had at least two years' experience during the last five years in producing wheat.

(5) Expect to receive more than 50 percent of his current year's income from the total production on the farm he operates (not including anticipated income from wheat produced on a "new farm" allotment).

Other factors also are involved, and the ASC Committee Chairman suggests that interested producers discuss the details with ASCS County Office officials. Formal application must be filed before July 1.

Parks Suspend Entrance Fees

The entrance fee to Appomattox Court House National Historic Park and other national parks has been temporarily suspended pending Congressional action on restoring the Golden Eagle Passport, an annual fee system which expired last March 31.

National Park Service officials said that the collection of daily entrance fees appeared to be working a hardship in a number of areas, and had arouse numerous public complaints.

In accordance with the Department of the Interior's general policy, appropriate charge will be made for camping, except back-country camping. Overnight camping fees in the National Park System range from $1 for primitive campgrounds to $3 where more sophisticated facilities are available.

The suspension of entrance fees applies to all National Park System areas except at Jamestown Island, Va., operated under a fee-sharing cooperative agreement

Investigator Reid Shields has prepared a display of drugs for educational programs like the one given for Ruritans

Invest. Shields With Drug Display

At their regular meeting on Friday, June 19, State Police Investigator M. R. Shields(pictured above) presented a program to the Oakville Ruritan Club dealing with drugs and their misuse. Also in the picture is part of the educational display, prepared by the state police, showing the different types of drugs and some of the equipment used by addicts.

One of the points which Investigator Shields mentioned was the fact that drug addicts are getting younger-a 12 year old addict was recently apprehended in Fairfax. Another point mentioned was that the best way to combat the drug problem is for children and parents to become knowledgeable concerning the various drugs and their effects.

At the moment, possession of any drug illegally in Virginia is a felony. Being convicted of a felonyy, among other things, means a prison sentence and loss of the right to vote. This is a serious matter.

A primary point which was made was that many of the individuals who become addicts start on drugs as an experiment or to be "one of the crowd". Becoming addicted to drugs is quite a high price to pay for "being accepted by the gang!"

Investigator Shields mentioned that the state police are glad to present such programs to organizations because of the educational benefit derived. If your organization is interested, contact the state police.

School Board Requests Bond Referendum

The Appomattox County School Board, at its meeting on Tuesday, June 16, 1970, approved a resolution, to be presented to the Board of Supervisors at their next meeting, asking that the supervisors adopt a resolution requesting the ordering of an election upon the question of contracting a debt and issuing bonds for school purposes in the amount of $2 million dollars.

Due to the prevailing interest rates and the length of time involved it was felt that a more favorable interest rate could be obtained and construction of the new high school could begin earlier by proceeding to sell the bonds on the open market rather than through the Virginia Supplemental Refrement System. Such bonds, sold on the open market, must be approved by a referendum of the voters in the county. The referendum, if ordered by the circuit judge, will be held not less than 30 days nor more than 60 days after the order.

Gift From Green Berets

Representative Watkins M. Abbitt (left) presented U. S. Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr. to a large crowd attending the dedication of the Farmville Municipal Airport Sunday. Both the Congressman and Senator were given a full color photograph of the Green Beret monument from Fort Bragg, gift of Colonel Samuel V. Wilson and the men of the U. S. Army Special Forces Parachute Club who gave a spectacular display of free fall and parachute jumping just before Senator Byrd's speech. Also attending, Sen. James Davis of Agricola.

Extension Agent Begins Work

Miss Linda Wheeler, a senior at Radford College completing requirements for a degree in home economics is the newest member of the VPI Extension staff in Appomattox.

One of her first duties, and an interesting one, she says, was the judging of "June Is Dairy Month" posters submitted by young people of the county.

Miss Wheeler will be eligible for graduation in December. Inasmuch as she hasn't decided on a career in extension work or teaching, she feels that her summer's work with 4-H clubs, home demonstration clubs and others will be helpful. Her special interests lie in textiles and clothing design.

She will be serving as a counselor during 4-H camp at Holiday Lake June 27 through August 1.

In the poster contest (judged with all names hidden) there are three winners from the same family. Andy Wingfield won 1st place in the 9-11 age group; Ricky Wingfield won a 2nd in the 12-14 age group and Tommy Wingfield a 2nd place in the 9-11 age group. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wingfield of Appomattox.

Third place winner in the 9-11 group is Teresa G. Phelps, John James and Goldie Covington tied for third place in the 12-14 group.

June is Dairy Month and the month, too, for extension aide, Linda Wheeler of Roanoke, to begin summer work in Appomattox. Miss Wheeler is holding blue ribbon, first place winners in the county Dairy Month poster contest. First place winners include Ernest G. Wade, Jr. (12-14), (left); Andy Wingfield (9-11), center; and Julianna Nadine Robinson (15 plus), right.

'Section House' - Antique Shop

A house on Main Street, Appomattox, built for a section foreman of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, has become an antique shop under the ownership and management of Mrs. H. Y. Spencer.

Outside the Queen Anne style home is a sign "Section House", recalling its use for many years by railroad men. Inside, Mrs. Spencer displays items new and old – milk cans antiqued and decorated by Mrs. W. W. Burke, an old fashioned parlor organ, desks, lamps, silver and glass and candles and scented soap.

Mrs. Spencer feels more than a passing interest in the home because her great-grandfather, Samuel Daniel McDearmon, sold the property to the N & W in 1866. She explains that during 1906 the N & W built 17 such houses in an adaptation of the Queen Anne style which was so popular during the latter part of the 19th century. Altogether, 21 section men's houses were constructed at various points along the N & W line. The station at Appomattox was enlarged in 1906.

Visitors are invited to tour the house and to see many items of interest. Local craftsmen are represented in some of the things offered, and collectors have added such treasures as old bottles to the display.

An old display case holds a "king's ransom" in silver with old clocks, glassware and furniture providing interest to the front room of the "Section House," an antique shop on Main Street, Appomattox.
